PROJECTS

Human Image Classification
Discover trends and patterns by analyzing vast amounts of data and create machine- learning algorithms and predictive models.
- A model that will classify Indian origin humans from other origins.
- Face detection with Haar-Cascade and the SVM algorithm.
- We had to feed the model with the dataset and then use it to test our outputs based on the inputs test dataset. So we got an accuracy of 75-80%.

Quiz Management Systems
It is a framework where you can create, edit and store multiple choice questions.
- Easy and reliable testing program that is unique in its category where you can have test sessions. Due to its open-source nature you can modify it according to your needs.
- The online quiz management system is software that is very helpful in current times when education is delivered through the online channel.
- This software will reduce the complexity of taking tests online.
